VISITS CRYSTAL CAVE.

Ed Thomas, of Bisbee, entertained a party of friends Sunday at his home near the Crystal Cave. Thomas has possession of the wonderful rock of nature, and took his friends through all parts of the cave, which was very beautiful. Some of the crystals measure thirty feet in length. This beautiful underground palace is located about nine miles from Bisbee up Tombstone Canyon. Among the guests were Messrs. Robert Sasse, G. Lewis and R. B. Manson, of the Copper Queen store.

"A Pleasant Time at the Theatre" was enjoyed by every one at the Royal. Last exhibit tonight. 472

The $14.75 SALE OF MEN'S SUITS A HUMMER.

The sale of men's suits at $14.75 at the Copper Queen store last Saturday and Monday, was a complete success. The reductions averaged from 20 to 40 per cent for the very best grades on the market, and there was lively buying both days. Scores of men look to the Copper Queen Store clearance sales as their "clothing opportunity," and purchase two and three suits at the time.

JORGENSEN THINKS SYLVANITE IS O. K.

Colorado Men Developing the Camp—Ore of Remarkable Richness as Samples.

H. W. Jorgensen returned from Sylvanite yesterday, where he has been for several days past doing engineering work at that camp. He states that everything is running along quietly there, but expects to see a considerable boom there in the not distant future.

"There are a number of Colorado men who are anxious to get their hands on the ore, and who can develop mines. They are looking for opportunities and there is reason to believe that they will put good forces of men on who will show up that camp in its proper light."

KNEW HIS BUSINESS.

Why the Colored Cook Remained Below During the Blow.

A story is told of a well known night porter who was one time anchored near a rocky and dangerous shore. Suddenly, just before dinner, a stiff inshore wind started up. The anchor began to drag. Another was rapidly thrown overboard, but in the increasing squall that, too, failed to hold. The schooner seemed in imminent danger of drifting on the rocks, but at last another anchor gripped, and the danger was past.

The night porter, nearly exhausted from his efforts, dropped on the deck to recover his breath and rest. In the quiet that followed there came to his ears the click-click-click-click of a busily manipulated spoon against a bowl.

"He listened for a moment and then went below. The cook was preparing said dressing."

"What, Sam?" he exclaimed in astonishment. "Didn't you know that we nearly went ashore?"

"Oh, yassir, yassir," came the undisturbed reply. "I thought she was going on de rocks, suah."

"Well, in a case like that don't you ever go up on deck? We had a mighty close call."

"Well, you see, it's like this: You can't leave your house in a minute 'cause it'll turn right back."—Youth's Companion.

COMPOUND EYES.

Insects That Can See Thousands of Ways at Once.

We can see the single eyes of some insects without a lens, as in the locust. In viewing the house fly we need a lens. The big, visible, bulging eyes we see are composed of thousands of tiny, cone shaped eyes, each with its own compound eye, each of more or less spherical shape. Under a lens they look like glass eyed pavement bent to convexity. Their faceted cornea are variously set in square, hexagonal or prismatic frames. Each glistening facet is the cornea lens of a distinct self working eye. Their number in each compound eye is enormous.

There are fifty such eyes in the head, 1,400 are allowed the dragon fly, and 3,500 the "workers." Our pet kitchen fly has 8,000 chances of seeing food crumbs, the beetle, over 6,000, while more than 13,000 aid the dragon fly in his electro-vision pursuit of the mosquito, offset somewhat by several thousand awarded the latter for a "sporting chance." The hawk moth gets pictures compounded by 20,000 contributions. Over 25,000 window the brain of the mole cricket (beetle), and 90,000—so it is claimed—contribute to the happy lives of some butterflies.—Dr. Edward A. Ayres in Harper's Magazine.

Ready Courage.

The Duchesse de Berry, whose husband was the son of Charles X. of France, is described in the "Memoirs of the most courageous characters the writer ever knew."

One day, when she was driving with her husband, the Duc de Berry, the horses took fright and ran away. The duchesse had continued the conversation without changing the tone of her voice, and at last her husband exclaimed:

"Why, Caroline, do you not see what has happened?"

"Yes, I see, but as I cannot stop the horses it is useless to trouble about them."

The carriage was upset, but no one was hurt.

Shop.

"Well, well, well! Is this Bill Snop?"

"Yes, and this is let me see—can this be my old friend Tom Grison?"

"That's who it is. I haven't seen you for—"

"Twenty-seven years."

"That's right. Twenty-seven years! Well, well! What are you doing now, Bill?"

"I'm a traveling evangelist. Are you a member of any church, Tom?"

"Not yet. I'm a life insurance collector. I represent the best company in the world. Carrying all the insurance you want, Bill?"—Chicago Tribune.

Start the New Year Right

One of the best resolutions you could make for the New Year would be to resolve to save Ten Dollars every month until you have One Thousand Dollars.

By taking Five Shares of stock in this Association, of a par value of Two Hundred Dollars a share, on which you would pay Ten Dollars per month you would soon have the Thousand Dollars.

Your payments, together with the interest earnings on your shares, will mature this stock in a few years and the money is yours.

Or you may wish to build a Home of Your Own, if so the Association offers you the opportunity of obtaining money for this purpose and your payments will be less than you would pay in rent for the same building. Information will be cheerfully given if you will call or drop a card to the
